

Extend secure content management and collaboration to the eSignature transaction management process.

DocuSign[®] is the Global Standard for eSignature[™], helping customers securely collect information and payments, automate workflows and sign anything anywhere, anytime. Box is the leading content management solution to access, share and manage your content from anywhere anytime.

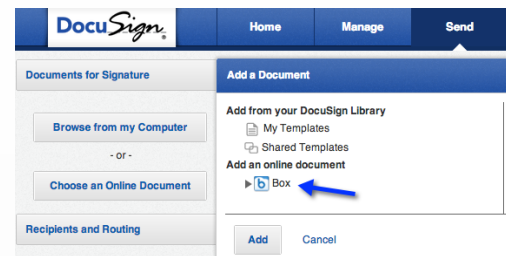

Together, DocuSign and Box make it easy to securely access, collaborate and manage documents that require signature. With DocuSign and Box, you can increase productivity, collaborate securely, and gain end-to-end document visibility. Simply select the document from Box you wish to sign or send for signature, and prepare it in DocuSign. Completed documents can be automatically saved back to Box and can be accessed from anywhere, providing maximum efficiency and security.

Increase productivity

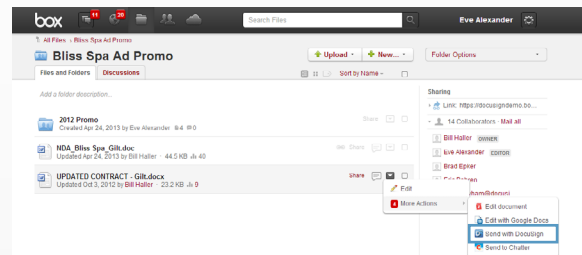

Easily and efficiently review, comment, approve and sign documents—even from your mobile device. You have the flexibility to start from within the Box application, the DocuSign application, or from your iOS, Android or Windows 8 mobile device. No matter where you start, with a few clicks, you can select recipients, tag the document and send for signature. Once the document is fully executed, a copy can be automatically stored to Box so you always have the most up to date version at your fingertips.

Users have a number of choices when it comes to using the services together:

From DocuSign: Add a document from your Box account to sign or send for signature. With DocuSign Connect for Box configured, administrators can designate where copies of completed documents are saved in Box.

From Box: Send documents for signature from right within the Box service. A copy of the completed document is saved to the same Box folder it was sent from.

From Your Mobile Device: In the DocuSign Ink app on iOS, Android and Windows 8, select a document from Box to sign or send for signature.

Collaborate securely

Share documents with anyone inside and outside of your organization, and ensure the right person signs your document with numerous authentication options. Securely store and manage signed documents alongside your complete set of business content. Both Box and DocuSign offer enterprise-class controls, enabling administrators to add and manage users, define granular permissions, run reports and control security settings.

End-to-end document visibility

Gain complete visibility into document status during the document's entire lifecycle. DocuSign pulls the meta data from your Box files, including access information and version updates, and tracks and maintains transaction history and details. This gives you a complete view into a document's history, from creation to completion, helping reduce errors, shorten agreement cycle and lower costs.

Maintain control with administrative options

Administrators have the ability to manage cloud storage options in DocuSign via company-wide policy. With DocuSign Connect for Box administrators can add Box as a document management option, and select where to store completed documents for maximum efficiency and security.

Across the enterprise

DocuSign and Box handle many different scenarios, including:

- Contracts: Excellent for red-lining or editing drafts then collecting signatures on the clean copy
- HR paperwork: Send your templated NDAs, or extend customized offer letters
- Field service: Complete checklists and gather signatures from customers in person
- Internal approvals: Sign off on marketing collateral, purchase orders, or product management documentations

Ready to get started?
